Re: Complaint against the ethics of The Honorable Hon Mary Bono

Dear Mr. Kircher

Gregory Kever forwarded me your rather confusing arduous explanatory letter of October 26th in connection with your representation of the Honorable Mary Bono. It seems you are attempting to explain away our conversations and it would appear you are more in collusion with Ms. Bono in her blatant actions to curtail constituents First Amendment rights than I thought.

As you know, in our conversation, I explained to you one of her campaign office workers, John Mark Blalock, was fed information regarding personal matters by Ms. Bono's Chief of Staff, Frank Cullen. Mr. Cullen had obviously related information about personal matters Ms. Bono's office had assisted me with last year to Mr. Blalock. Both Mr. Cullen and Mr. Blalock had brought this information up to me and had used this as an implied threat should I fail to remove satirical blogsites called The Desert Pun and Mary Bono #2 Congressional Hottie.

In these independent spoof sites, which satirize both Democrats and Republicans, including gay Democratic Palm Springs councilman Steve Pougnet, Ms. Bono was satirized for her hypocrisy in preaching family values during the President Clinton impeachment and then hooking up with Connie Bono. As you know, sadly, as a result of their nearly simultaneous divorces, Ms. Bono and Mr. Mack's relationship left his young children without a full-time father. Of course other things were satirized including imitations of Ms. Bono on youtube, her calling the Iraq War "the Iraq thing", her wanting to arrest anyone who had personal knowledge of illegal aliens, her relationships with Mark Foley, and taking thousands of dollars from Jack Abramoff. Ms. Bono wanted these blogs removed and her agents threatened me with the use of personal information shared with her office to be used as retaliation against me if I did not eliminate them.

Why you contacted Mr Kever is very puzzling? I never said he was representing me, and if he had been doing so in this matter, I would have thought, you, in representing Ms. Bono, would be interfering with one of her constituents attorney/client privileges and this act would indicated further examples of veiled retaliation by complicity with her office

Of course nothing surprises me when it comes to Ms Bono and her "representatives" attitudes toward constituents Her ethical and moral standards, along with lying about her relationship with Mark Foley, giving thousands to Tom DeLay's defense fund, reflect the unethical principles of her political party and our very "popular" president

As for you, not bothering to forward me your "explanatory letter" in which you state, representing Ms Bono . "Mr Grace has a propensity to misrepresent" is absurd since you contacted Mr Kever without my authority and then didn't follow-up by sending the "explanatory letter" to me It seems you speak with "forked tongue "

In the meantime, thanks for your earlier suggestions, which you seem not to recall, of suggesting I contact the Ethics Committee regarding Ms Bono's interfering and attempting to curtail First Amendment Rights by using her office for personal retaliation.

I have contacted Mr Berman's office and the Ethics Committee and they told me to wait until after today's elections to file a complaint.

Very truly yours,
